How I Might Feel and What To Do:

Every Day!

- Wash your feet with warm water and mild soap (do not soak), dry carefully, especially between the toes, apply lotion to heels and soles, NOT between the toes
- Check your feet and toes daily with clean hands, use a mirror if unable to see your feet well
- Keep any cuts or scratches clean, dry and covered
- Trim toe nails straight across and NOT too short
- Wear clean, dry, well-fitting socks every day (white socks are best, they show drainage)
- Wear socks at night if your feet get cold, NO hot water bottles on your feet
- Always shake out your shoes before putting them on, in case there are objects in your shoes that you may not feel if you have decreased sensation to your feet
- Wear shoes even indoors, this protects your feet from stress and potential trauma

TIPS

- Your feet can swell throughout the day, so shop for shoes later in the day, when feet are at their largest
- Ideal shoes will have: breathable fabric, firm heel, closed toe, rocker sole, low heel (< 1 inch), removable liners, round toe box, 1-2 cm beyond the longest toe while standing, and replace your shoes yearly. AVOID slip on shoes, pointed toe shoes and sandals
- Smoking decreases blood flow to your feet, so quitting or cutting back will help
- If you have Diabetes, keep your blood sugar less than 7
- Regular exercise, getting up and moving every 30 min can improve your circulation
- See a foot nurse or chiropodist if you have foot problems or deformities
- See a chiropodist, pedorthist, or occupational therapist for specialty shoes and/or orthotics (provide local services list)

Green Zone: All Clear - This zone is your goal! <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Your feet are clean, dry and intact • You have no pain, redness or deformities in your feet • Sensation to your feet is intact • Your blood sugar is less than 7 	Your symptoms are under control. Go to all scheduled follow-up appointments and have your feet inspected by a medical professional at least yearly
Yellow Zone: Caution - This zone is a warning! <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • You have a cut, corn, blister or reddened spot on your feet or toes • You have drainage on your socks • You have pain and/or swelling in your feet • You're feet are pale, cool 	Call your Doctor/Nurse Practitioner/Chiropractor for instructions. You may need a foot assessment/diabetic foot screen/vascular assessment and possibly special footwear and wound care to prevent a wound
Red Zone: Emergency - This zone means act fast! <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • You have a visible wound on your foot or toes • You have pain when you normally have decreased sensation to your feet • You have redness, swelling, drainage, warmth, foul odor to your foot 	Call your Doctor/Nurse Practitioner TODAY to report symptoms and request an appointment or present to the Emergency dept

Changes in My Routine:
Foot checks	Daily foot and toe inspection will identify problems early Seek help as directed above.
Footwear	Wearing well fitting, supportive shoes every day, even indoors!
Exercise	Regular exercise can improve circulation, so keep moving. Exercise as directed by your health care team.
Smoking	QUIT Smoking, even cutting back can improve blood flow to your feet.
